Valene,
Checking with [redacted] he is not aware of any written guidance He has, as have I, advised agents here to not participate in interrogations outside of FBI policy

As for the second question , the memo you recieved is available to all interviewing agents here at FBI GTMO No direct written guidance has to date been provided

Per our conversation, please find attached the e-mail exchange prompted by [redacted]'s request from his SAs on Wednesday I have asked [redacted] to hand carry to you the "A to X memo" related to approved interrogation techniques. Further, I inquired about guidance given to SA conducting interviews here, and [redacted] replied that no such written guidance exists. SA are advised to conduct their interviews in accordance with FBI policy and procedure, with the exception of the Miranda requirement. According to [redacted] he has not received any evidence, that SAs have participated in or observed any interviews employing "abusive" interrogation techniques. Please let me know if I can be of further assistance.

Thanks [redacted]

As you know, #1 was brought to General Hood's attention by NAE

I consider #2, as you have reported it, unfounded and arguably not credible, based on the source

#3 was observed/supervised by competent JTF medical authority, and as you weren't moved at the time to label it abuse, I'm reluctant to do so now
