Synopsis: To document community outreach to Assyrian Universal Alliance Americas Chapter in San Jose, California and claim statistical accomplishments.

Details: On June 7, 2009, Special Agents [Redacted] and [Redacted] gave a presentation at a career day hosted by the San Jose Youth Chapter of the Assyrian Universal Alliance (AUA). The career day was held at Adobe Hall, 1352 Lincoln Avenue, San Jose, California, and lasted from 6:30 pm until 9:30 pm. Approximately 20 members of the local Assyrian community attended the event. Most of the attendees were either in college or had graduated from college within the past several years.

According to event organizers, the AUA is an Assyrian community organization whose main goals are preserving a unique Assyrian culture and helping Assyrians still living in the Middle East. The Assyrians are Middle Eastern Christians from communities located primarily in Iraq, Syria and Northwest Iran. The AUA hosts cultural events for Assyrians living in the United States and sponsors periodic relief missions to Assyrian communities and refugees in Iraq and Syria. Assyrian cultural identity is distinct from the majority Muslim Arabs and Persians in their countries of origin. A major component of Assyrian culture is the Assyrian language, a Semitic language distinct from Arabic and Hebrew.
that is very similar to ancient Aramaic. The AUA and Assyrian community in the United States encourage their members to learn and use the Assyrian language (Agent Note: The event's organizers spoke in Assyrian at various times and the attendees, most of whom had been born in the United States, reported that they understood Assyrian and used it on a regular basis to communicate within the community). Despite their common language and culture, Assyrians are divided along religious lines. The principle division is between Orthodox and Catholic Assyrians. Orthodox Assyrians belong to the Church of the East and recognize the Patriarch of Babylon as their religious, spiritual and communal leader. Catholic Assyrians, also known as Chaldeans, recognize the Pope in Rome as the leader of the Church. The Assyrian community in the United States is similarly divided along religious lines.
