[redacted] stated that back home, he used to listen to the United States freedom channel, Radio Free Asia, on the radio. [redacted] advised that Radio Free Asia gives so much hope to the [redacted] and insight into the United States' democracy and freedom. [redacted] stated that Radio Free Asia would give them news that [redacted] would not release. [redacted]

[redacted] and he does not consider himself a smart man. [redacted] stated that he is smart enough to know that America is the best democratic society and the American people are happy, live well, have civil rights, and are respected. [redacted] asked if the interviewers had listened to our own songs. [redacted] stated that American songs are always happy and [redacted] music and books are all sad, depressing, and about the struggles of the poor. [redacted] stated that America and [redacted] societies are night and day, in the way people live and the way they are treated. [redacted] advised that while at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, America has been very nice and has treated him really well. [redacted] stated that he knows that the United States is the only country that will stand up to the tyrannical governments that practice genocide and protect the poor and weak people around the world. [redacted] advised that his life is simple and he does not mind being sent back and dying in his own country for a worthwhile cause of freeing his people. [redacted] stated that he does not want to be sent back [redacted] to die for no reason. [redacted] advised that he would rather go to the United States or some other western democratic country, where he can claim political asylum. [redacted] stated that if he goes back to [redacted] they will kill him for being a part of [redacted] stated that if the Americans will wash his hands, he will wash the United States' face. [redacted] advised that if the Americans will grant him and the other [redacted] detainees political asylum, he would be indebted to the United States until he dies. [redacted] stated that [redacted] would never attack the United States or Americans, because why would you attack a friend. [redacted] advised that [redacted] feels friendly towards the United States and wants its help. [redacted] stated that [redacted] has only one enemy and that is [redacted]
