Do you think we should bring Vince into this or leave it for now.

Subject: UPDATE - Tennessee and Memex

Matt, David

As you know, getting accurate information about the current status and plans for the completion of the Memex interface to the shared space in Tennessee has been a challenge. Last week [REDACTED] indicated that he felt that the Memex work would not be completed until at least December. Yesterday, as we discussed the SVT and next steps, he wasn't sure. At my request [REDACTED] hosted a call with Memex principals and myself this afternoon to get to the bottom of things.

Memex has committed to complete development and testing of the interface by October 15. TN staff, with support from Memex, would conduct internal testing the week of October 18th. Operational testing would be accomplished the week of the 25th with a target date to go live on November 1st. We would assist TN with the testing that week so that [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] are convinced that the SARs are properly processed on the Shared Space and can be forwarded to eGuardian. I asked a number of probing questions of the Memex staff and am convinced that they can meet these dates.

Based on this development, [REDACTED] is going to recommend to [REDACTED] that FC analysts continue to use eGuardian for the rest of October and then switch to the Memex/shared space solution in November.
