Re: REQUEST UNDER FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT /
Expedited Processing Requested

Attention:

This letter constitutes a request by the American Civil Liberties Union and the American Civil Liberties Union Foundation (“ACLU”) under the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552 (“FOIA”), and the Department of Justice implementing regulations, 28 CFR § 16.11.<sup>1</sup>

I. The Request for Information

The ACLU seeks disclosure of any presidential order(s) authorizing the NSA to engage in warrantless electronic surveillance<sup>2</sup> and/or warrantless physical searches in the United States, created from September 11, 2001 to the present.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>1</sup> The American Civil Liberties Union Foundation is a 501(c)(3) organization that provides legal representation free of charge to individuals and organizations in civil rights and civil liberties cases, and educates the public about civil rights and civil liberties issues. The American Civil Liberties Union is a separate non-profit, non-partisan, 501(c)(4) membership organization that educates the public about the civil liberties implications of pending and proposed state and federal legislation, provides analyses of pending and proposed legislation, directly lobbies legislators, and mobilizes its members to lobby their legislators.

<sup>2</sup> The term “electronic surveillance” includes but is not limited to warrantless acquisition of the contents of any wire or radio communication by an electronic, mechanical, or other surveillance device, and the warrantless installation or use of an electronic, mechanical, or other surveillance device for monitoring to acquire information, other than from a wire or radio communication.

In addition, the ACLU seeks disclosure of any record(s),<sup>4</sup> document(s), file(s), communications, memorandum(a), order(s), agreement(s) and/or instruction(s), created from September 11, 2001 to the present, about:

1. any presidential order(s) authorizing the NSA to engage in warrantless electronic surveillance and/or warrantless physical searches in the United States;
2. the policies, procedures and/or practices of the NSA:
  - a. for identifying individuals, organizations or entities to subject to warrantless electronic surveillance and/or warrantless physical searches in the United States, including but not limited to any “checklist to follow in deciding whether probable cause existed to start monitoring someone’s communications,”<sup>5</sup> or a requirement that there be a “clear link” between terrorist organizations and individuals subject to such surveillance;<sup>6</sup>
  - b. for gathering information through warrantless electronic surveillance and/or warrantless physical searches in the United States;
  - c. governing the maintenance and/or storage of information described in paragraph 2(b) above;
  - d. for analyzing and using information described in paragraph 2(b) above;
  - e. for sharing information described in paragraph 2(b) above with other government agencies;

<sup>4</sup> The term “records” as used herein includes all records or communications preserved in electronic or written form, including but not limited to correspondence, documents, data, videotapes, audio tapes, faxes, files, guidance, guidelines, evaluations, instructions, analyses, memoranda, agreements, notes, orders, policies, procedures, protocols, reports, rules, technical manuals, technical specifications, training manuals, or studies.

<sup>6</sup> Transcript, President Bush’s Address, Dec. 17, 2005, available at <http://www.nytimes.com/2005/12/17/politics/17text-bush.html>

- f. for sharing information described in paragraph 2(b) above to be “used as the basis for F.I.S.A. warrant requests from the Justice Department,”<sup>7</sup> or any other form of warrant;
  - g. for cross referencing information described in paragraph 2(b) above with information about other individuals, organizations, or groups;
  - h. for cross-referencing information described in paragraph 2(b) above with information in any database;
  - i. to suspend and/or terminate warrantless electronic surveillance and/or physical searches in the United States by the NSA;
  - j. governing the destruction of information described in paragraph 2(b) above;
  - k. for protecting the privacy of individuals who are subject to warrantless electronic surveillance and/or warrantless physical searches in the United States;
  - l. for consulting with, or obtaining approval from, the Justice Department or other departments, agencies, and/or executive branch officials before engaging in warrantless electronic surveillance and/or warrantless physical searches in the United States;
  - m. any minimization procedure, as that term is defined in 50 U.S.C. § 1801(h), for information described in paragraph 2(b) above;
3. the name of other government agencies with whom the information described in part 2(b) above is shared;
4. the date on which:
- a. President Bush signed an order permitting the NSA to engage in warrantless electronic surveillance and/or warrantless physical searches in the United States;

- b. the NSA began engaging in warrantless electronic surveillance and/or warrantless physical searches in the United States;<sup>8</sup>
5. the constitutionality, legality, and/or propriety of warrantless electronic surveillance and/or warrantless physical searches in the United States;
6. any Justice Department “legal reviews of the program and its legal rationale.”<sup>9</sup>
7. any actual or potential violations of, or deviations from, any policy, procedure or practice related to warrantless electronic surveillance and/or warrantless physical searches in the United States by the NSA;
8. any investigation, inquiry, or disciplinary proceeding initiated in response to any actual or potential violations of, or deviations from, any policy, procedure or practice related to warrantless electronic surveillance and/or warrantless physical searches in the United States by the NSA;
9. any Department of Justice audit of any NSA program carrying out warrantless electronic surveillance and/or warrantless physical searches in the United States;<sup>10</sup>
10. the number of:
  - a. individuals who have been subjected to warrantless electronic surveillance in the United States by the NSA since September 11, 2001;

<sup>8</sup> It is unclear when the NSA began its domestic surveillance program and when the President provided written authorization for it to do so. On December 18, 2005, the New York Times reported that the NSA “first began to conduct warrantless surveillance on telephone calls and e-mail messages between the United States and Afghanistan months before President Bush officially authorized a broader version of the agency’s special domestic collection program.” Eric Lichtblau and James Risen, Eavesdropping Effort Began Soon After Sept. 11 Attacks, New York Times, Dec. 18, 2005.

- b. individuals who have been subjected to warrantless physical searches in the United States by the NSA since September 11, 2001;
  - c. organizations or entities that have been subjected to warrantless electronic surveillance in the United States by the NSA since September 11, 2001;
  - d. organizations or entities that have been subjected to warrantless physical searches in the United States by the NSA since September 11, 2001;
11. the average and maximum<sup>11</sup> number of:
- a. individuals who have been the target of warrantless electronic surveillance in the United States by the NSA at any one time since September 11, 2001;
  - b. individuals who have been the target of warrantless physical searches in the United States by the NSA at any one time since September 11, 2001;
  - c. organizations or entities that have been the target of warrantless electronic surveillance in the United States by the NSA at any one time since September 11, 2001;
  - d. organizations or entities that have been the target of warrantless physical searches in the United States by the NSA at any one time since September 11, 2001;
12. the number of individuals who have been subjected to warrantless electronic surveillance and/or warrantless physical searches in the United States by the NSA who are United States citizens, lawful permanent residents, recipients of non-immigrant visas, lawful visitors without visas, and undocumented immigrants, respectively;
13. the types of communications that have been subjected to warrantless electronic surveillance by the NSA, including but not limited to whether such communications were carried out via telephone, email,

14. elements of the NSA's warrantless surveillance program in the United States that were suspended or revamped after, "[i]n mid-2004, concerns about the program [were] expressed by national security officials, government lawyers and a judge";<sup>12</sup>
15. concerns expressed by national security officials, government lawyers, judges and others regarding the NSA's warrantless surveillance program;<sup>13</sup>
16. the number of instances in which the Attorney General has authorized warrantless electronic surveillance and/or physical searches under 50 U.S.C. §§ 1802 or 1822(a), and copies of each certification; and
17. President Bush's periodic reauthorization of the NSA's warrantless surveillance in the United States, including but not limited to the frequency with which the President reviews the surveillance program, the exact number of times the President has reauthorized the program, the basis and/or criteria for continued authorization of the program, and other government officials, departments, and/or agencies involved in the review process.<sup>14</sup>

The activities I authorized are reviewed approximately every 45 days. Each review is based on a fresh intelligence assessment of terrorist threats to the continuity of our government and the threat of catastrophic damage to our homeland. During each assessment, previous activities under the authorization are reviewed. The review includes approval by our nation's top legal officials, including the attorney general and the counsel to the president. I have reauthorized this program more than 30 times since the Sept. 11 attacks and I intend to do so for as long as our nation faces a continuing threat from Al Qaeda and related groups.

II. Limitation of Processing Fees

The ACLU requests a limitation of processing fees pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II) (“fees shall be limited to reasonable standard charges for document duplication when records are not sought for commercial use and the request is made by . . . a representative of the news media . . .”) and 28 C.F.R. §§ 16.11(c)(1)(i), 16.11(d)(1) (search and review fees shall not be charged to “representatives of the news media.”). As a “representative of the news media,” the ACLU fits within this statutory and regulatory mandate. Fees associated with the processing of this request should, therefore, be limited accordingly.

The ACLU meets the definition of a “representative of the news media” because it is “an entity that gathers information of potential interest to a segment of the public, uses its editorial skills to turn raw materials into a distinct work, and distributes that work to an audience.” National Security Archive v. Department of Defense, 880 F.2d 1381, 1387 (D.C. Cir. 1989).

The ACLU is a national organization dedicated to the defense of civil rights and civil liberties. Dissemination of information to the public is a critical and substantial component of the ACLU’s mission and work. Specifically, the ACLU publishes newsletters, news briefings, right-to-know documents, and other educational and informational materials that are broadly disseminated to the public. Such material is widely available to everyone, including individuals, tax-exempt organizations, not-for-profit groups, law students and faculty, for no cost or for a nominal fee through its public education department. The ACLU also disseminates information through its heavily visited web site: <http://www.aclu.org/>. The web site addresses civil rights and civil liberties issues in depth, provides features on civil rights and civil liberties issues in the news, and contains many thousands of documents relating to the issues on which the ACLU is focused. The website specifically includes features on information obtained through the FOIA. See, e.g., www.aclu.org/patriot\_foia; www.aclu.org/torturefoia; <http://www.aclu.org/spyfiles>. The ACLU also publishes an electronic newsletter, which is distributed to subscribers by e-mail.

In addition to the national ACLU offices, there are 53 ACLU affiliate and national chapter offices located throughout the United States and Puerto Rico. These offices further disseminate ACLU material to local residents, schools and organizations through a variety of means including their own websites, publications and newsletters. Further, the ACLU makes archived material available at the American Civil Liberties Union Archives, Public Policy Papers, Department of Rare Books and Special Collections, Princeton University Library. ACLU publications are often disseminated to relevant groups across the country, which then further distribute them to their members or to other parties.

Depending on the results of the Request, the ACLU plans to “disseminate the information” gathered by this Request “among the public” through these kinds of publications in these kinds of channels. The ACLU is therefore a “news media entity.” Cf. Electronic Privacy Information Ctr. v. Department of Defense, 241 F.Supp.2d 5, 10-15 (D.D.C. 2003) (finding non-profit public interest group that disseminated an electronic newsletter and published books was a “representative of the media” for purposes of FOIA).

Finally, disclosure is not in the ACLU’s commercial interest. The ACLU is a “non-profit, non-partisan, public interest organization.” See Judicial Watch Inc. v. Rossotti, 326 F.3d 1309, 1310 (D.C. Cir. 2003). Any information disclosed by the ACLU as a result of this FOIA will be available to the public at no cost.

III. Waiver of all Costs

The ACLU additionally requests a waiver of all costs pursuant to 5 U.S.C. §552(a)(4)(A)(iii) (“Documents shall be furnished without any charge . . . if disclosure of the information is in the public interest because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester.”). Disclosure in this case meets the statutory criteria, and a fee waiver would fulfill Congress’s legislative intent in amending FOIA. See Judicial Watch, Inc. v. Rossotti, 326 F.3d 1309, 1312 (D.C. Cir. 2003) (“Congress amended FOIA to ensure that it be ‘liberally construed in favor of waivers for noncommercial requesters.’”).

Disclosure of the requested information is in the public interest. This request will further public understanding of government conduct; specifically, the NSA’s warrantless electronic surveillance and/or physical searches in the United States. This type of government activity concretely affects many individuals and implicates basic privacy, free speech, and associational rights protected by the Constitution.

Moreover, disclosure of the requested information will aid public understanding of the implications of the President's decision to permit the NSA to engaging in warrantless electronic surveillance and/or physical searches in the United States and, consequently, to circumvent the judicial oversight required by the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act of 1978.<sup>15</sup> Congress passed this Act in response to scandalous revelations about widespread political surveillance by the FBI under the leadership of J. Edgar Hoover. Following those revelations, Congress convened hearings and established a commission to investigate the government's abuses and explore how best to prevent future excesses. The hearings, chaired by Idaho Senator Frank Church, revealed that the government had infiltrated civil rights and peace groups, had burglarized political groups to gain information about their members and activities, and had "swept in vast amounts of information about the personal lives, views, and associations of American citizens."<sup>16</sup> Understanding the current scope of the NSA's warrantless surveillance is, therefore, crucial to the public's interest in understanding the legality and consequences of the President's order and the NSA's current surveillance practices.

As a nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization and "representative of the news media" as discussed in Section II, the ACLU is well-situated to disseminate information it gains from this request to the general public and to groups that protect constitutional rights. Because the ACLU meets the test for a fee waiver, fees associated with responding to FOIA requests are regularly waived for the ACLU.<sup>17</sup>

<sup>16</sup> INTELLIGENCE ACTIVITIES AND THE RIGHTS OF AMERICANS, BOOK II: FINAL REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE TO STUDY GOVERNMENTAL OPERATIONS WITH RESPECT TO INTELLIGENCE ACTIVITIES. UNITED STATES SENATE. APRIL 26, 1976. Available at <http://www.icdc.com/~paulwolf/cointelpro/churchfinalreportIIa.htm>.

<sup>17</sup> For example, in May 2005, the United States Department of Commerce granted a fee waiver to the ACLU with respect to its request for information regarding the radio frequency identification chips in United States passports. In March 2005, the Department of State granted a fee waiver to the ACLU with regard to a request submitted that month regarding the use of immigration laws to exclude prominent non-citizen scholars and intellectuals from the country because of their political views, statements, or associations. Also, the Department of Health and Human Services granted a fee waiver to the ACLU with regard to a FOIA request submitted in August of 2004. In addition, the Office of Science and Technology Policy in the Executive Office of the President said it would waive the fees associated with a FOIA request submitted by the ACLU in August 2003. In addition, three separate agencies – the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Office of Intelligence Policy and Review, and the Office of Information and Privacy in the Department of Justice – did not charge the ACLU fees associated with a FOIA request submitted by the ACLU in August 2002.

The records requested are not sought for commercial use, and the requesters plan to disseminate the information disclosed as a result of this FOIA request through the channels described in Section II. As also stated in Section II, the ACLU will make any information disclosed as a result of this FOIA available to the public at no cost.

IV. Expedited Processing Request

Expedited processing is warranted because there is “[a]n urgency to inform the public about an actual or alleged federal government activity” by organizations “primarily engaged in disseminating information.” 28 CFR § 16.5(d)(1)(ii).<sup>18</sup> This request implicates an urgent matter of public concern; namely, the NSA’s potentially extensive warrantless electronic surveillance and/or physical searches in the United States. Such government activity may infringe upon the public’s free speech, free association, and privacy rights, which are guaranteed by the First, Fourth, Fifth, and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution. Requests for information bearing upon potential Constitutional violations require an immediate response so that any violations cease and future violations are prevented.

A requestor may also demonstrate the need for expedited processing by showing that the information sought relates to “a matter of widespread and exceptional media interest in which there exist possible questions about the government’s integrity which affect public confidence.” 28 C.F.R. § 16.5(d)(1)(iv). The instant request clearly meets these standards as the request relates to possible violations of Constitutional rights by federal law enforcement officials. It took less than a day for Arlen Specter, the Republican chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, to pledge that the Senate would hold hearings to investigate the NSA’s warrantless surveillance. Jennifer Loven, Report of NSA Spying Prompts Call for Probe, San Francisco Chronicle, Dec. 16, 2005. That the President chose to give a rare, live radio address providing additional information about the NSA’s warrantless surveillance the day after it was revealed underscores the urgency of the ACLU’s request. The urgent and time sensitive nature of the request is also apparent from the widespread and sustained media coverage the NSA’s warrantless domestic surveillance activities have garnered. See, e.g., James Risen and Eric Lichtblau, Bush Lets U.S. Spy on Callers Without Courts, New Finally, pursuant to applicable regulations and statute, the ACLU expects the determination of this request for expedited processing within 10 calendar days and the determination of this request for documents within 20 days. See 28 CFR § 16.5(d)(4); 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(A)(i).

If this request is denied in whole or in part, we ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions to FOIA. The ACLU expects the release of all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. The ACLU reserves the right to appeal a decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter. Please furnish all applicable records to:
