Tax Exempt Groups Funding Domestic Terrorism
Talking Points

Role of Tax Exempt Groups Funding Domestic Terrorism

- The animal rights group, People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals has provided funding for the legal defense of noted animal rights activists in the past. Specifically, in 1992, PETA provided in excess of $45,000 for the legal defense of [redacted] after he was arrested and charged in connection with [redacted]. PETA further provided funds for the legal defense of [redacted], a noted animal rights activist.

OTHER Outside the scope

FDI investigation has determined that in 2001 [redacted]