OFFICER LANG: My name is Officer Lang. I'm going to be doing the interview today.

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: Okay.

OFFICER LANG: This is Arthur (indiscernible) and he is just watching me and observing what we are doing.

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: Sure.

OFFICER LANG: We are videotaping the interview, so I have to read this little --

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: Sure.

OFFICER LANG: -- it's not little. It's a long statement because it's on video. Okay?

Do you have your driver's license or photo ID or --

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: I should have it --

OFFICER LANG: -- passport?

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: -- with me. There's my driver's license.

OFFICER LANG: All right.

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: And there's my passport.

OFFICER LANG: Do you have -- is this your current one or do you have an old one too?

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: I have some old ones, but I didn't bring them with me.

OFFICER LANG: Okay. So whose passport was that one?

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: That was Bailey's.
that's the name of the school. All right. And then (indiscernible) and the Basij students.

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: Yeah.

OFFICER LANG: And what is that group?

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: This technically -- was created when it was -- when revolution took place. They said we need -- the leader said that we need people to volunteer to technically be with the country, and then war happened. We didn't have a very strong military because everything was kind of messed up. So people volunteered in the war, and those volunteers, they made this group. And the activities was mainly doing cultural stuff, religious stuff. But then later on they decided to change the group to a military -- also they gave some military aspects to it. So technically now the commander in chief of Basij is part of revolutionary guard.

OFFICER LANG: Okay.

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: But at that time it was not. It was a separate entity.

OFFICER LANG: Okay. And what did you do for the group?

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: Just -- we used to run Quran classes and Imosed (phonetic) was also participating in Quran classes and doing mostly religious activities.

OFFICER LANG: Okay. What does mostly religious activities mean?

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: Religious activities. Nothing besides that --

OFFICER LANG: Like holding prayers and --

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: Holding prayers, reciting songs, like going to, like, classes and stuff like that.

OFFICER LANG: Okay. (indiscernible) All right. So I'm going to (indiscernible) Have you ever been arrested by the police?

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: No, I haven't.

OFFICER LANG: Have you ever gotten a ticket or been charged with a crime?

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: No, I haven't.

OFFICER LANG: Indicted or convicted of a crime? In prison?

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: No.

OFFICER LANG: Okay.

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: Is speeding ticket included?

OFFICER LANG: Nah --

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: I have one speeding ticket.

OFFICER LANG: Okay. Did you pay it?

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: Yeah, of course.

OFFICER LANG: Okay. Then we don't care. You get in trouble if you don't.

Have you ever voted in any election in the United MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: Yeah. We went to -- I think we -- Smoky Mountains.

INTERVIEWER: I do.

OFFICER LANG: You probably do.

INTERVIEWER: Yeah. Can I see --

OFFICER LANG: Yes.

INTERVIEWER: -- privy to that.

OFFICER LANG: Mind my scribbles here.

INTERVIEWER: Just a few.

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: Sure.

INTERVIEWER: It looks like you amended your I-45. Why not list these on your application?

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: In the beginning?

INTERVIEWER: Yeah.

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: In the first -- I didn't put -- the reason was I did not technically understand what is the meaning of membership or affiliation. And when I talked to my lawyer, she said that you need to better -- you need first to define that, and you need to put that in your application. So I submit this.

INTERVIEWER: And did you complete your application on your own? Or did you have an attorney --

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: Yeah. Bailey did it -- religious-related activities. But then it started -- when war ended and then those people, they had technically nothing to do and they spend most of the time in the war, so they got ranks. And then the whole thing, I think, became part of revolutionary guard, subsidiary of revolutionary guard. And then people who were part of it, they started to going up in ranks if they wanted to and then get paid. So they are technically militant I can say now.

INTERVIEWER: So today is it a current organization --

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: Yeah, yeah, yeah.

INTERVIEWER: It's current?

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: Yeah.

INTERVIEWER: But it became more militant --

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: I think now they are more militant but in a volunteer form.

INTERVIEWER: Okay. And your -- when did your membership end? Or when did your affiliation end with that group?

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: When I technically entered college.

INTERVIEWER: Okay.

MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: I did a -- so how it worked was the Islamic Students Association and Basij in college, they were two groups against each other. The dynamics was like because it was during President Madani. Islamic Association they were, like, more liberal minded people, more reformist. And Basij was more like hard liners. So as I went through time, I found myself to be more into those ideas then Basij ideas. So it was the reason I joined Islamic Students Association.

INTERVIEWER: And were you involved with Basij --
MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: In college?
INTERVIEWER: -- in Paris? When you were in Paris?
MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: No, no, no. They don't -- not at all.
INTERVIEWER: What organizations were you involved in in Paris?
MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: In fact it was SEG, of course, professional establishment organization, and also Union of Islamic Students Association in Europe.
INTERVIEWER: Any others affiliated while you were in Paris?
MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: I don't remember -- I don't think so.
INTERVIEWER: Okay.
MEHTDI OSTADHASSAN: No, I don't think so.
INTERVIEWER: That's all I have.
OFFICER LANG: That's all?
INTERVIEWER: Thank you.
