To Whom It May Concern,

Thank you for your response. It is not clear from the below email whether this is the Department's final response, or whether additional responses to my request will be coming later. I ask because the request seeks information beyond "departmental orders" or "standard operating procedures" concerning cell site simulators.

Any clarification you can provide would be much appreciated.

Sincerely,

Nathan Wessler

--- Please respond above this line ---

We have no departmental orders of standard operating procedures covering "cell site simulators"
